

The Heart of the Matter

Drawn
by Faith
DREW POZZA

Genesis 33

The Heart of the Matter

Drawn
by Faith
DREW POZZA

Genesis 33

Read through Genesis 33 again this week. Take some time to process these questions. Also purpose to spend some time in prayer with God... Good quality time with the Lord. Questions are taken from GENESIS: A 12 Week Study by Mitchell Mark

Read Genesis 33:1–11. At first, it seems that Jacob is back to his old scheming, as he divides his family to prevent them from total slaughter (33:1–2). Yet what evidences do we see that Jacob takes responsibility and actively pursues reconciliation in these verses? List any hints you see of Jacob’s heart of repentance and active pursuit of reconciliation in these verses.

Though Esau had been deeply wronged and formerly wanted to kill Jacob (Gen. 27:41), we see a remarkable change in him as he “ran to meet [Jacob] and embraced him and fell on his neck and kissed him” (33:4). In 33:12–20, Esau offers to go with Jacob, or at least provide a bodyguard to be with him. Jacob refuses. God had promised him the land of Canaan and had promised to be his protection and bodyguard (31:3), so he did not need the protection of Esau. How does all this tie in to the original promise to Abraham in 12:1?

Read through Genesis 33 again this week. Take some time to process these questions. Also purpose to spend some time in prayer with God... Good quality time with the Lord. Questions are taken from GENESIS: A 12 Week Study by Mitchell Mark

Read Genesis 33:1–11. At first, it seems that Jacob is back to his old scheming, as he divides his family to prevent them from total slaughter (33:1–2). Yet what evidences do we see that Jacob takes responsibility and actively pursues reconciliation in these verses? List any hints you see of Jacob’s heart of repentance and active pursuit of reconciliation in these verses.

Though Esau had been deeply wronged and formerly wanted to kill Jacob (Gen. 27:41), we see a remarkable change in him as he “ran to meet [Jacob] and embraced him and fell on his neck and kissed him” (33:4). In 33:12–20, Esau offers to go with Jacob, or at least provide a bodyguard to be with him. Jacob refuses. God had promised him the land of Canaan and had promised to be his protection and bodyguard (31:3), so he did not need the protection of Esau. How does all this tie in to the original promise to Abraham in 12:1?
